DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's preliminary amendment filed 8/13/2004 has been entered. Claims 1, 2, and 16 are now pending.

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Quinn et al (US 6,463,199 B1).

Quinn discloses an optical fiber cable with all the limitations set forth in the claims, including: an optical fiber cable comprising: a central reinforcing element ('18' Fig. 5); a layer of optical fibers ('16' Fig. 5) surrounding the central reinforcing element; a buffer layer ('20' Fig. 5) surrounding the layer of optical fibers; and an outer sheath ('12' Fig. 5) surrounding the buffer layer; the cable being characterized in that it has only a single layer of optical fibers surrounding the central reinforcing element (Fig. 5), in that the buffer layer presses the optical fibers against the central reinforcing element in such a manner as to couple the optical fibers mechanically to the central reinforcing element by contact between the bare optical fibers and the central reinforcing element (Fig. 5 clearly shows the fiber being in mechanical contact with the central member), said mechanical coupling reducing relative longitudinal movements between the optical fibers and the central reinforcing element during temperature variations of the cable (Fig. 5); and in that the portion of the buffer layer in contact with the bare optical fibers is constituted by a material that is both solid and flexible so as to withstand radial flattening without exerting damaging mechanical stress on said optical fibers (column 2 line 60- column 3 line 16).

It is noted that claims contain functional language. While features of an apparatus may be recited either structurally or functionally, claims directed to an apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function alone. MPEP 2114. Since the examiner has determined that the recited functions can be performed by the prior art structure, all the functional limitations of the pending claims are fully anticipated by the cited prior art. See also In re Swinehart, 169 USPQ 226 (CCPA 1971); In re Schreiber, 44 USPQ2d 1429 (Fed. Cir. 1997).
